The unexpected vote of Waterbury for no license was not, as was at first suppos ed, the result of efforts on the part of the liquor dealers who thought no license meant free rum. It was due entirely to the influence of the Roman Catholic priest, Father Lynch, who is an earnest prohibitionist and brought out the votes of all the Catholic temperance society in favor of the no license system. Moreover, the people seem to be in earnest about it, and a union league has been formed to prosecute at once all violations of the law. BURGLAR SHOT DEAD BY A WATCHMAN. -About 1 o'clock on Saturday morning THE GLENWOOD AVE. GROCER three masked burglars broke into the office of the Oxford Iron Company, at Oxford, Warren county. The office is THOMAS T. CADMUS located in an unfrequented portion of the town, and is always gnarded at night by a watchman. Wm. H. Searing, the watchman, heard the noise made by the burglars, and posted himself directly in front of the door with a loaded revolver in his hand ready for use. As soon as the leader pushed open the door and entered, Mr. Searing fired and the burglar fell dead on the floor. His companions made a rush at Searing and sized him, when a desperate struggle took place. They enso violently that they were unable to accomplish their purpose. Finally he made a desperate effort and succeeded in freeing his right hand, in which he held the revolver. Cocking the weapon he fired again, wounding one of his assailants. Both the burglars took flight, leaving the dead body of their companion and all their tools behind them. Searing fired after them as they ran out of the door, Fine Hand-Made Embroidered Chemises, $1.25. but with what effect is not known, as they | Fine Tucked Embroidered Chemises, $1.25 and both succeeded in making their escape.
